

I am concerned about relaxing limits on broadcast ownership. I believe diversity in ownership is important for media truth, an informed public, and the success of the democratic process.

I have had recent travels to Europe and New Zealand and have been surprised, impressed, and concerned that the public in these varied nations appear to be more correctly informed about activities and policies in the United States than our own citizens are ..... including myself.

The coverage of the recent war both by US and by Iraq media signals the importance of truth and a free media. Large corporate ownership risks truth and free media.

Thank you.
